a. Timber Resource Information System

SR 229

b. IN 053

c. We have not received any ERTS-1 imagery to date. This has prevented analysis, interpretation or comparison with the available high altitude and large scale imagery.

d. A strategy meeting was held in Seattle on August 21. The U.S. Forest Service was represented by Bob Pope of the Pacific Northwest Experiment Station, the State of Washington by Roger Harding, and Bureau of Land Management by Del Baldwin. The representatives of each agency reaffirmed their interest in continuing on the investigation. The next six months will be spent interpreting the imagery and ground sampling these interpretations. Boeing Computer Services hosted the meeting in anticipation of the use of their Natural Resource Information System (NRIS) program to manipulate the resource overlays.

e. No significant scientific results at this time. (category 1B)

f. No publications.

g. We are recommending the Colville Reservation in the State of Washington be substituted for the Warm Springs Reservation. This request has been made to the technical monitor at Goddard.

h. No change in standard order forms.

i. No change in descriptor forms prepared at this time.

j. No listing of change in data request forms.

k. No formal request made for data collection platforms at this time.
